CLASS HISTORY

We, the graduating class of 1952, wish to present to you at this time a synopsis of our trials and tribulations up to this time.

Most of us started school in about 1940. We managed to get through the first eight years despite the usual difficulties. Such as sickness and keeping the teacher after school now and then. After overcoming these difficulties we were ready to enter high school.

During the Freshman year there were twenty-six of us including the following: Alfred Schock, James Sellon, Loretta Grosz, Luella Grosz, Lillian Schlaht, Ruth Preisinger, Rueben Bergit, Richard Huston, Meinhardt Flemmer, Ardella Schon, Arlene Schumacher, Alvin Schock, John Hawley, Clinton Jesser, Raymond Sanderson, Kenneth Sandberg, Oscar Corum, Gordon Torkelson, Donald Belsheim, Meinhardt Schock, Laura Kvale, Leona Presser, Arliss Ockert, Ann Sandberg, Delano Repnow, and Richard Heinle.

At the beginning of our junior year Barbara Harmon and Wesley Helm joined our class. Clinton Jesser, Richard Heinle, Ann Sandberg, and Leona Presser left. Our total number was now 18.

At the beginning of our Senior Year we lost four more members, including: Arliss Ockert, Delano Repnow, Wesley Helm, and Raymond Sanderson. Our class was then left with 14 members.

James Sellon and Richard Huston attended all 12 years at Turtle Lake.

Ruth Preisinger went to Otis District #80 for her first eight years. Her four years of high school were spent at Turtle Lake.

Alfred Schock went to Turtle Lake Public school for his first 5 years. The remainder of his grade school was spent at Wise School District #36. All four years of high school were attended at Turtle Lake.

Loretta Grosz attended school at Lake Margaret District #84 for her first eight years and then came to Turtle Lake for her high school.

Meinhardt Flemmer received the first eight years of his education at New Home #22 and came to Turtle Lake for his four years of high school.

John Hawley went to Rueter school #1 for his first 6 years of school. The rest were spent in Turtle Lake.

Arlene Schumacher went to school in Turtle Lake for her first grade. Her second through the fifth grades were spent in Seattle, Washington, and the remaining years at Turtle Lake.

Alvin Schock attended his first seven years of school at Lake Margaret District #84. His high school was spent in Turtle Lake.

Luella Grosz went to Lake Margaret for her first year of school, she attended school at Palmburg #66 for the remaining seven years, then she came to Turtle Lake for her four years of high school.

Barbara Harmon attended Otis District #80 for her first eight years. She went to Velva for her first two years of high school. She finished her high school at Turtle Lake.

CLASS PROPHECY

As I was walking to work one bright and sunny morning in 1962 at New York City, a messenger boy approached me and asked if my name was Barbara Harmon. I told him that it was and he immediately handed me a telegram from Fresno, California. I hurriedly tore it open, wondering who it could be from and what about. In a few moments I found that it was from a friend of mine, Ruth Preisinger, who was employed as a secretary at a large firm there, asking me if I could take leave for a--while and visit her. She said that she may have a story for me. I, being a reporter was naturally quite curious, also anxious for the vacation. I called my boss at the office of the New York Times and he said to go ahead. I decided to take my time traveling as I wanted to enjoy the trip.

I was scheduled to leave on the Northern Pacific in about 2 hours. As I packed a few things I stopped to turn on the television set. A ball game was being played between the New York Yankees and the Philadelphia Phillies. Just as I was about to switch to a different station I heard the announcer say, next batter Alvin Dale Schock, who plays centerfield for the Yanks. I was amazed because even though living in New York, I had not known this. I listened and watched carefully. Strike one---way out in the field. He got to first, second, third and home. He had made a home run and I felt really proud of him.

A glance at the clock then showed me that it was time to leave for the station. I soon stepped on the train and went whizzing on through much beautiful scenery until we made our first stop, which was at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. As I was getting off the train I saw a girl in a Wac's uniform getting on. Looking more closely I, recognized Ardella Schon. She told me that she was still in training and that she liked the work very much. She was now on her way to the West Coast for more training. Feeling very happy that I'd met her I walked down the street into the nearest drugstore to the phone to call my friend, Lillian Yesenko, who was a fashion editor for the Seventeen magazine. She told me that she was not too busy and asked me to come and see her for awhile. I did and we talked over old times until it was soon time for my train to leave. Lil said that she'd walk to the station with me. As we were waiting, a poor bum came up to us and asked us for a dime so that he could buy a cup of coffee. I exclaimed, why, Jack Hawley, by this time he fished out his glasses. He told us that he'd been a bum ever since he was out of high school. We gave him a dime and then he sauntered off. Just about then I heard the conductor shout, "All Aboard" so I rushed into the train. I found a comfortable seat and picked up a magazine. As I was looking very intently at it, I felt a tap on my shoulder and someone said "Hi". I turned around and looked into the face of Loretta Grosz. I went back to where she was sitting, took a seat beside her and started talking. Loretta was travelling to the slum district of Chicago as a social worker. She said that she really felt like she was doing a worth-while job, spreading the gospel to the poor and unchurched.

Our next stop was at Chicago so I bid Loretta good-bye and once more left the train for a town in which I thought I knew no-one. As I walked down the street, I kept my eyes open for a hotel. I had to find one as my next train wasn't leaving until 10:30 the following morning.

As I was waiting in the luxurious lobby of a hotel I had located, I picked up the evening paper and glanced through it. As I turned the next page, I saw an article headed, Richard Huston, Chicago Millionaire, back from vacation. I was quite surprised to see this and I decided to look him up the following morning.

I asked a policeman to direct me to the home of the Chicago Millionaire and I soon found myself in a very exquisite home in the suburbs of Chicago. Richard seemed very happy and told me all about his good luck with North Dakota oil.

I left Chicago the next morning feeling very lucky to have met so many of my classmates.

I was getting quite tired when the train stopped at Kansas City, Kansas. As I stopped outside of a small drugstore I caught sight of a car decorated with tin cans and rabbit tails and a "Just Married", sign. Then I saw the couple and who should the bride be, but Luella Grosz. I stopped and talked to them for a-while. Luella, looking very happy, told me that she and her husband were honey-mooning in Kansas, but planned on making their home in Turtle Lake. They asked me to come to lunch with them, so we walked into the drugstore for lunch and whom should we see but Meinhardt Flemmer standing at the counter. After he had greeted us he told us that he was a scientist, working on a wonderful cure for one of America's dreaded disease. He then said, goodbye, because he had to hurry off as his scientist friend's were waiting for him to help them on an experiment they were about to conduct.

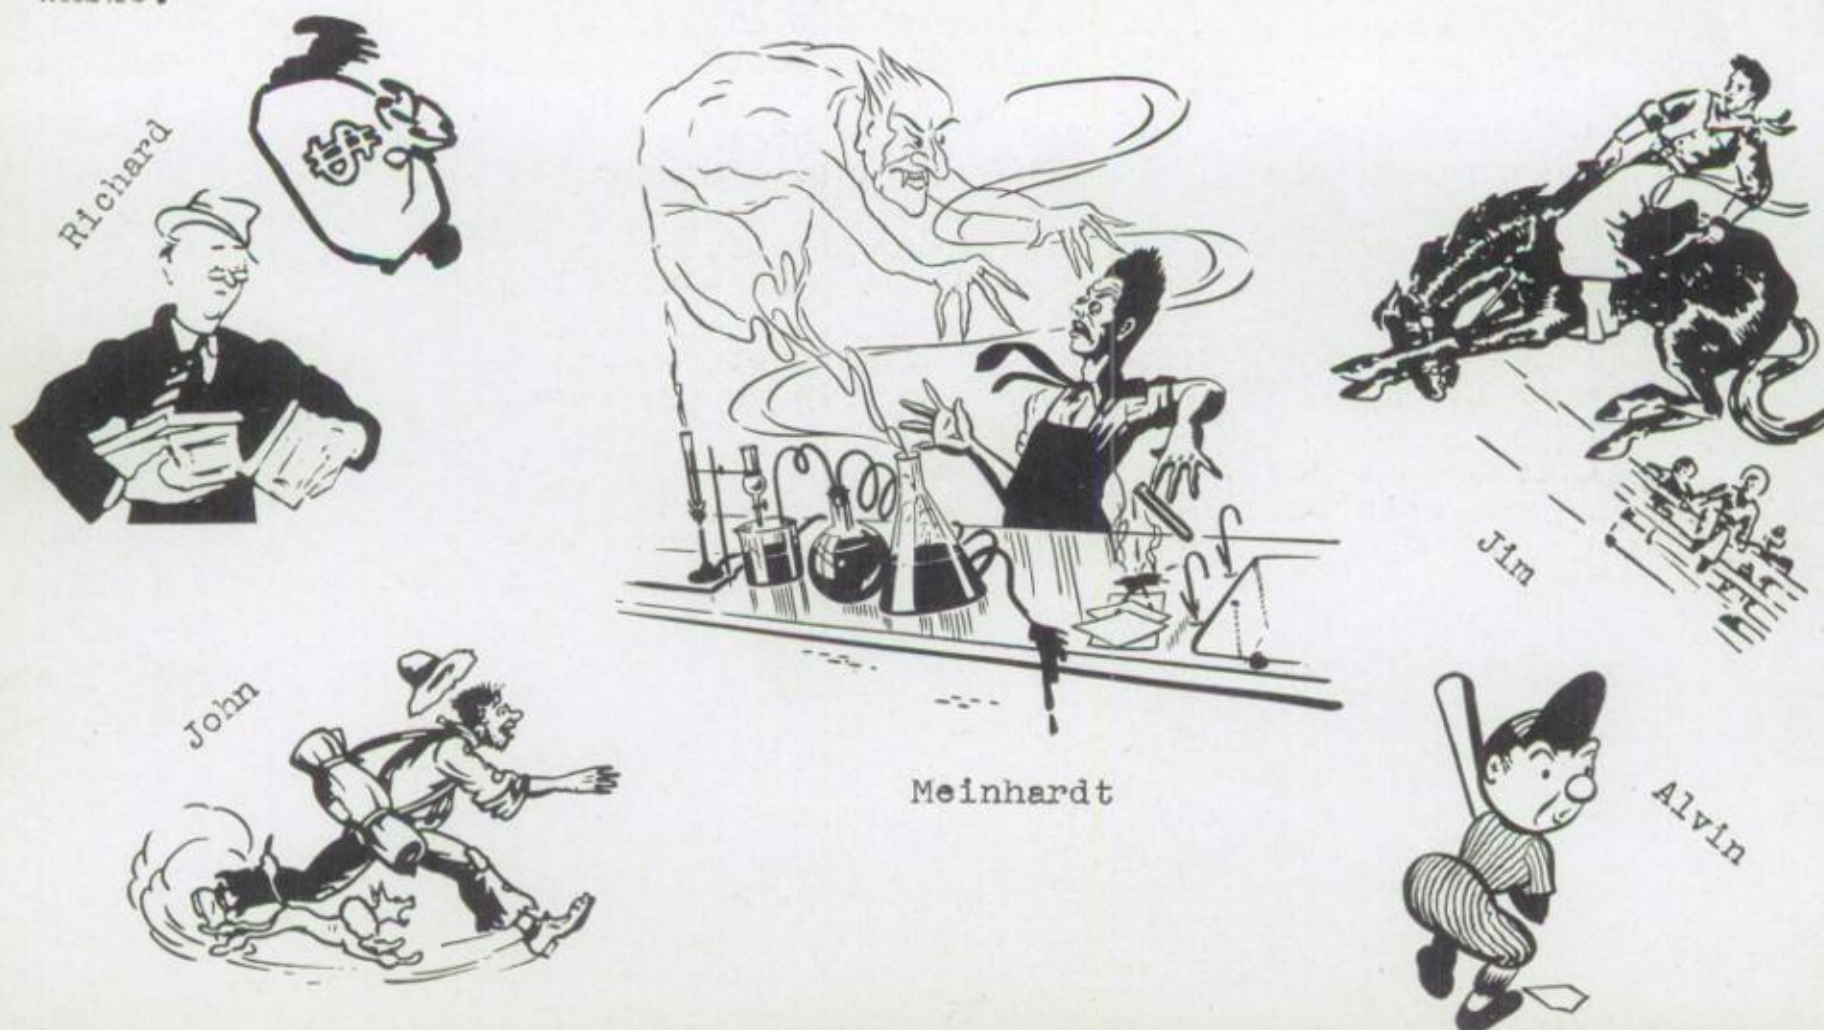

I said goodbye and left, for it was time for me to continue with my journey. The conductor told me that the next stop was at Jackson Lake, Wyoming. I gazed out the window and saw a large ranch. It was then I remembered that this must be Jim Sellon's ranch, as I'd heard that he had a ranch near Jackson Lake, Wyoming. As we came closer I saw the large sign that read, "Sellon's Double Bar Ranch." I knew I couldn't miss this opportunity to see Jim so I asked the conductor to do me a favor and drop me off here. This he did and I walked up the path to the huge house and rang the doorbell. To my surprise the door was opened by Alfred Schock. Alfred, quite surprised also, told me that he was foreman here on Jim's ranch. The rancher himself, then appeared, looking about the same as ever. Behind him were four of the cutest little redheads I'd ever seen, looking just like Jim. As I looked around at the very luxurious furnishings, Jim smiled and told me that he had profited quite-a bit on his thousand head of full-bred cattle. I told the boys that I didn't have very long to stay, but I was really pleased that I had had a chance to come and see them. At this Jim said that his private airplane would take me to my destination, which I told him was at Cheyenne to meet my train. After a very Pleasant air-plane ride, I was once more on my way home.

The next stop was at Salt Lake, Utah. Taking a taxi to a hotel we ran into a dog catcher's cab causing a slight smash-up and Lo and Behold as I saw the dog catcher step out of the cab who should it be, but Rueben Berget. When we'd had a good laugh at our strange meeting he told me that he was living in Salt Lake City, was married and had two lovely children.

The next morning the train left for my final destination, Fresno, California. After what seemed an eternity I was finally there and in a cab headed for Ruth's house. She told me that my trip had taken so long that she hardly expected me any more. That evening, she suggested that we go to the "Dome" Ballrooms, there was to be a dancing act that starred Arlene Schumacher. Arlene was wonderful, after her act was finished, we went back-stage to see the star in person. She was the same gay Arlene, Just as friendly as ever.

After a few days of being with Ruth my vacation was over and I realized that I would have to get back and on the job.

At home my boss asked me if I had enjoyed the trip and I told him of the good fortune and strange co-incidence of seeing all my classmates of "52" in this short while.

"Gals"

In this roster of girls Loretta is first,
She may not be best, but she isn't the worst.

Then comes Arlene, a waitress right now,
We think she'll "look ahead" and advance somehow.

With her sense of humor, we find Lillian,
She should have no trouble catching a man.

Next comes Luella, a fashion plate on feet,
You can bet when you see her that she's always neat.

Barbara is next in this line up of gals,
When she leaves this school she'll leave plenty of pals.

Ruth is next, she's the quiet, shy sort.
She never says much, but we know she's a good sport.

Ardella is last, the smallest one,
You know, if you've met her, that she's lots of fun.

"Guys"

First is Mac, our advisor so stern,
His job is simple, just help us to learn.

Alfred is next in this roster of boys,
He's our class president by popular choice.

After Alf comes Jim, our basketball star,
He's everyone's pal; we think he'll go far.

Then comes Richard, the clown of the class,
What he wants to know is, "will I pass?"

I guess I had better put Rueben in here,
He's a real nice guy and we all hold him dear.

Alvin is next, we think he'll go places,
If he drives his old car he'll come home with braces.

I had better put Meinhardt in here pretty soon,
He's our mad scientist, wants to fly to the moon.

Last is the poet, that's me Jack,
If all goes well I won't be back.

you've been a good teacher
And I have had a lot of fun this year.

Cards Drop Game To Turtle Lake

In the opening game of the football season Friday afternoon of last week, Woznick's Washburn Cardinals lost to the Turtle Lake Trojans by a score of 7-0.

Left halfback Alfred Schock's 20-yard reverse in the first quarter was the only touchdown made. Fullback Norman Schlafmann added the extra point with an end run.

Turtle Lake Shuts Out Underwood

UNDERWOOD—The visiting Turtle Lake Trojans whitewashed Underwood, 21-0, here Friday afternoon.

The win moved Turtle Lake (3-2) into third place in the McLean County conference ahead of Garrison (2-2) which dropped a game to Charging and Co. at Elbowoods.

Pacing the visitors' attack was the passing and running of Alfred Schock, a senior who scored once, passed for another tally and set up the third marker.

After a scoreless first quarter Schock ploughed over right tackle from the three. Norman Schlafmann dived over from the two for the second touchdown minutes later. The pass from Schock to Jim Sellon was complete for the extra point.

Schock fired a 20 yard aerial to LaVerne Haas in the end zone for the final TD in the third quarter. The Trojans picked up their final two points when Underwood fumbled in their own end zone, recovering but being downed for a safety.

Turtle Lake Upsets Elbowoods, 14 to 7

Special to The Tribune

TURTLE LAKE — Turtle Lake struck through the air for a pair of touchdowns here Friday to upset an Elbowoods eleven that was minus its ace back, Arnold Charging.

The score was 14-7 for Coach Leonard Wick's Trojans in the McLean county football game.

Charging, who paced the Warriors to three straight conference victories, dislocated a couple of toes last week against Underwood. He is expected to be back in the lineup soon.

Turtle Lake's winning pass combination was Alfred Schock to Jim Sellon. The duo collaborated for a touchdown in the first period, the play covering 35 yards. Schick went wide on a lateral to get the extra point.

It was the same combination that set up the second touchdown in the second quarter. Schock plowed over from the 9 after his 30-yard pass to Sellon set up the marker. A Schock to Sellon pass was good for the extra point.

Turtle Lake dominated play in the first half, getting seven of its nine first downs in the first two periods. Elbowoods took over in the second half but was able to score only one touchdown and that with about two minutes left in the fourth quarter.

Leonard Eagle plunged over for the touchdown from the 2 and Alfred Cross scored the extra point. Elbowoods piled up nine first downs in the game, six in the second half.
